CAN YOUR LAND DEVELOPMENT PRACTICE BE MORE SUCCESSFUL?

WHO WE ARE

The Land Development Coalition is a collaborative group of firms offering land development services. Our goal is to strengthen the business environment and image of land development with clients, agencies and other engineering professionals.

We focus on providing quality land use and site development services (including surveying / geotechnical consulting) for both the private and public sector by sharing best business practices to help our members enhance their management expertise and increase their business efficiency and overall profitability.

The Coalition works with other industry associates beyond engineering and acts as an advocate for our member firms including addressing issues impacting surveying, geotechnical consulting in addition to traditional site development. We strongly encourage all of our associates to join us today.

"Our participation in [the Land Development Coalition] has kept us up-to-date on trends and legislation important for our business."
